E. O. SMITH IN EUROPE.

Another Letter from the Tourist at Athens.

Below is a copy of another letter reeived by D. S. Shellabarger, from E. O.

Dear David Shellaharger: I wrote you some time ago a letter from Rome, where we stayed four weeks, and since then we spent the same amount of time at Naples. From thence we came fast by rail to Brindisl, and took a steamer for Patias, Greece, but stopped at the island of Corfu. There cur eyes weregladdened by the sight of the American flag affoat on our new squadron, consisting of four new and magnificent steam ships of war; and shortly after our arrival Commodore Walker came aboard, accompanied by Capts. Sedgwick and Rogers, also Hon. Mr. Snowden, our minister to Greece, and we had the pleasure of a short isit. And just let me inform you that this was not the first time by several, on this journey, that I felt my national pride lift the front of my walstcoat from its natural position, and let me state right here also that it does not hundilate the American pride of one of her citizens to visit any of the countries I have seen, considering all in all, and they are honored full up to their merits. Still, they can learn a great deal that ought to benefit them at home. I will commence where I left off in my letter; lirst I will give you a short history of the Roman Colliseum, by far the grandest amphitheatre ever erected by man-one of the wonders of the world—and was built by the Flavian emperors during the first century. It measures 1,000 feet in circumference, is of an elliptic form, is 157 feet high and has four stories—the first of the Doric style; the second, Ionic, and the last two, Corinthian—beautifully or pamented with carved carved marble and stone. It has eighty archways for entrance, and, it is claimed, could be emptied in ten minutes without confusion. All the outside work is of cut stone and much of the Interior is of a very hard rock, called tula rock, and was held together by iron anchors and clamps. Un-derneath the arena was constructed of hard prick and mortar, immense corridors, prisons were condemned to fight wild beasts as their unishment and for the entertainment of the copis. For 500 years this was a favorite resort for the people of Rome and her provinces, and t is recorded that the Emperor Vespasian had brought into the arena 5,000 wild beasts of various kinds to fight each other to entertain the seople during the festivities. Gladiators were trained to fight each other and wild beasts for rives. Very many of the early Christians sufcred martyrdom in this way. Sometimes the and naval fights were exhibited. The last disday was in 523, and shortly after this a very exaord:nary overflow of the Tiber filled the celars and arena to such an extent that it nev nantled. For many centuries its marble was he iron it contained, and the stone and brick were used for building roads, houses and bridges. This continued until the dawn of civilization, under the guidance of Martin Luther and othe advocates of civil and religious liberty began to ppear in Rome. Then the destruction of this, preserve and restore enough of it so that after generations might view its grandeur; and i doubt not that many centuries hence people from all parts of the world will be, like us, making pilgrinages to view this, together with making migranders. rulns of a people but little, if any, less civilized than those of our boasted age.

Now I will try and give you a very brief d ven a minute description of this, the largest randest and costliest monument ever crecte y man for the worship of the Supreme Intellicence. This is a modern structure as, as I told ou in my last letter, in the Mediceval times—the niddle, or dark ages-instead of building, the ore down and destroyed all they could of ar nence, literature and true-religion. This wa time when it was considered a religious duty set are to a grand library and glee over its lestruction, and burn men and women by the musand for believing that which is considere both wise and honorable in this enlightened uge of progress. Such was the destruction of life in those dark and bloody times that a popular American author, in writing on the subjeof European civil policy, declares that for 1,000 years Europe did not double its population Rome, herself, is a striking example; 1,800 years ago she was mistress of the civilized world, the she boasted her walls were the Northern se on the nurth, the Atlantic ocean on the west, th thine of Asia, on the east; and it is recorded hat thirty years ago she numbered 300,000 inhab tants. Since then a reaction has set in, and now she numbers 400,000 and is improving. Sh 188 400 churches and many schools. She has 40, 000 protestant inhabitants and 25,000 Jews. The atter enjoy almost for the first time immunity from persecution; "the latter" is meant, for all scription of the cathedral. Well, it measures 813 oot in length and 446 feet in width, 458 high, and cutar form, and a colonnade forming a semi-circular portice supported by 284 columns 70 feet high, in four rows; between them carriages pass each other; above it is a fine entablature, sichly in the center, stand the grandest, largest an of red granite and said by the historian, Herodo tus, to have been erected by the son of Be one of the most sucient emperors of Chin known to history. On each side of this is a mag-nificent fountain. It would be impossible for me to describe the inside of this church. It far exeeds any building ever erected. The walls from the floor to the dome, are covered with the most artistic Mosaic representations of scriptural characters and events, Michael Angelo and many of the greatest artists were employed in it rection and decoration. It was commenced in the sixteenth century and it took 100 years to Mosaic painting, the pen in the hand of the prophet, seeming to be 18 inches long, is six feet. The bronze statue of St. Peter is said to have been made for Jupiter. It stands upon a pe-destal near the passage. It is within reach and the projecting toe has been worn away by the devotees' klases. In another church a statue of Jesus, made of marbie, was so worn away tha: it had to be replaced by a bronze foot. There are several families living on the roof, employed in cleaning and taking care of the building. The cost is put at $60,000,000 and at a time when the price was much lower than the present. It is said to have exhausted the revenues of a dozen popes. If it could be built at all in the United States it would cost $300,000,000. The large dome is a model of beauty, but it is my own opinion, ierived from observation and from conversation with competent judges, that the outside of the cathedral at Florence is much finer, but that the fully variegated in mosaic. The roof at Milan is ornamented by 100 turrets and the church has over 2000 marble statues, representing as many Roman saints. A distinguishing feature of all the large cities of Italy are the cathedrals of inumense size and grandeur, but I was struck with the visible disproportion between them and their congregations. The Scala Santa is a place containing 28 marble steps, said to have been brought from Jerusalem and to have been the stairs to the court of Pilate and that Jesus of Nazareth walked over them, after his mock oronation, when the blood trickled from the wounds made from the crown of thorns and wounds made from the crown of shorts and stained these steps. These steps were brought to Rome by the Emperor Constantine. It is taught and believed by the faithful that by asending these stairs on one's knees will secure an indulgence for 1000 years. So numerous have been these ageersions that it became necessary o protect the steps by wooden coverings. When we were there they were crowded with devoteen ascending on their knees and stooping to kiss the steps. It is said that Martin Luther made he ascent half way, when he suddenly arose and walked down. He said that a voice whis-pered to him that the just shall live by faith. We were presented with two tickets, through the kindness of Countess Raymond, whose acquaintance and friendship we made at Nice. the wrote in our favor to a high priest and he visited us several times and showed us severa favors. He procured us two tickets, all he could get. It was the anniversary of Pope Leo XIII and it was a rare favor to be permitted to visit the Vatican and his holiness. Of course neither knew how wicked I was and so I did not mpose on good nature, and another reason was that my swallow tall was not in proper condition. So I gave my licket to a younger member of the family and she was present and was greatly gratified by the honor.

Whatever Catholicism has been in the past one thing in its favor is the high moral tone and the kind behavior of Cetholies in Rome and Italy wherever I have been and seen them. But th is a new Rome, differing much from the Rome of he dark ages. I am of the opinion that Roman sm is being affected and benefited by the progressive spirit of this age and that there will in the end be a new Romanism take the place of

We were at the King's palace in Rome an passed through his line apartments. We afterwards saw the King and Queen and their son the heir apparent. They are popular with the people of the country and Italy is experiencing the good influences of a better government and is rising to prominence among the nations, but they are borne down by an enormous task. The triple alliance, which she together with Germany and Austria constitutes, compels her to support a standing army of 300,000 soldiers and a mayy at a cost of $100,000,000. Italy is too poor for this but she has to do it for self-defense. Now that Bismarck, the author of the triple alliance measure, has resigned as prime minister, all Europe is looking anxiously to see what the result may

We had a fine time at Naples and saw much to interest us, but I wont bore you with an account of it in this already too lengthy scrawl. We the indisposition of one of our company. It leared it may be dangerous to visit Egypt during the hot weather and we are considering whether we had not better turn our course and visit Asia we expected to be at Cairo and we are informed that April or May would be a hazardous time for persons that were not vigorous and healthy t o there. There are a great many Americans visiting Europe at this time and I am told all the time and about six to one are women. At Naples at me time I was the only male bearder out of 2 persons at our hotel. We found many Americans wherever we visited, excepting at our pres ent hotel. We have never been lonesome and have all the time been cheery and lively. We met a good many people whom we greatly respected. We have not had a Decatur paper for an age and but few letters. We would like both and they would reach us prepaid and directed to No. 7, Rue Scribe, Parls, France, in care of Monroe & Co. All join in love.

The House and Senate Pension Bills. WASHINGTON, May 14 -The Senate pension committee yesterday presented to the Senate a report recommending disagreement to the House amendment substituting a service pension bill for the Dependent Pension bill The re port says that the Senate bill provides tnat the beneficiary must be de pendent upon his daily labor or upon the contributions of others not le gally bound for his support, while the House amendments makes pensionable all persons who can bring themselves within its requirements irrespective o pecuniary means The Senate bill also fixes the rate of pension at twelve dollars and the House bill at eight dollars a month The Sen ate bill also makes provisions for de pendent parents which is omitted in the Honse amendment. The Senate bill provides that the disability shall not be the result of vicious habits This The House also provides for a service pension, which the Senate does not. In the opinion of the Senate committee the two measures are entirely irrecor ment the House bill is wholly in adequate The report says that, count ing the number of disabled soldiers in the soldiers' homes and eleemosynary institutions, there are at least twenty five thousand disabled and dependen Union soldiers recipients of public charity The rate of twelve dollars a month approaches nearly the minimum of subsistance, while eight dollars a month undoubtedly falls far below at It it be deemed expedient to allow a pension of eight dollars per month because a person is dis that is no reason why abled. four dollars a month should be taken from the dependent soldier The House provision benefits these who do not need a pension at the expense o those who are in absolute need. It is the opinion of the Senate committee that it is the duty of the government before entering upon any other pension legislation, to provide for the needs of the disabled and dependent soldiers in the most liberal manner possible The Senate bill was framed upon this theory Its object is relief to the neces sitous and not to those who do not need The committee think the service pension a matter which should not be involved with a disability bill A serv most cureful consideration in order that justice may be done both to the soldier and to the country Lstimates prepared by Captain Ains worth shows that the approximate ag gregate cost of a service pension upon a basis of sixly two years as the age limit will be $1 152 095,525. Upon a basis of sixty years the cost would be $1,333, 109,829 Of this amount $1,079,617,024 must be paid before the end of the year 1915 and the average annual payment will be $41,523 732 It should be stated however that these estimates are sub-174 036 due to 22 595 of the pensioner already being or the rolle at an average of $4.33 a month. These estimates are materially greater than those of the House committee, but the Senate com mittee adopt them because they seemed to be based on vilid reasons and because all experience has shown that pension outimates have heretofore invariably fallen below the actual cost. The com unttee do no not believe the service pension would give satisfaction to the ous It is a tentine measure. Twine is Twine. The F. M. B. A. county assembly meeting was held with closed doors, and the price of twine was the principal topic of discussion. State Agent McGibben had twine to sell and he was prepared to take orders in ton lots. He was supposed to represent a St. Louis firm. What was done could not be learned, but one farmer said: "We have been paying 17 cents a pound, and now we can get good twine as low as 11 dents," That remark was taken as semi-official, although it is known that the present wholesale price of manilla twine is 16 cents a pound. One Decatur dealer bought his supply at 15½ cents a nound before the advance, and he is in a position to sell low at a fair profit, unless it is true that the farmers can get the twine at 11 cents. Last night there seemed to be a mass meeting of twine salemen at the Hotel Brunswick office, and all directed their conversation to Brother Thornhill, of the county assembly, who at intervals took occasion mended and will doubtless receive a to pour hot shot at monopolies and apparent that every participant in the unique entertainment had been rehearsed patiently and well, and there was absolutely no cause for a adverse criticism. The first part was in charge of Mrs. F M. Curtis and Mrs. Guyton, and so well did they look after the epecialties and tableaux, that all were charmed with the result. Madge Hays in her graceful dancing act, Lena Nelson in her violin solo. Josephine Laux as the Sleeping Ariadne, Belle Vennigerholz as the Sea Nymph, and Bonnie Bartholomew and Madge Have in their specialty acts de serve special mention. Madge and Bonnie were cute darkeys and made a hit a banjo players. Ada Haines in the rolof Virginia gave a very pleasing solo the music of which was arranged by Prof. C. A. Foster. It was given in such capital style that Miss Ada won a warm recall and floral tributes. She was the avorite vocalist and made a graceful and lessing appearance. The recitations by Miss Laux and Miss Hutchison were also

In the "Land of Nod" operetts the bonors were evenly divided. This operatta was given under the direction of Mrs. C. A. Foster, who was instrumental in the formation of the Christmas Club. She was assisted by Prof. Foster, her husband The operetta was a beautiful close to a lelightful entertainment.

Good Templar Improvements.

Decatur Lodge starts in the new quarers with a flattering outlook and pleasant surroundings. During the past week The Young People's Literary Society | D. L. Bunn, chairman of the trustees, has had the large ball neatly repapered and thoroughly renovated, altogether precenting a fine appearance. There was initiation and several propositions for membership last evening. The literary program consisted of readings by John Spaulding, Grace Trump and Estella Jacobs. To-morrow night the Lodge gives a May festival and sociable. The opera house orchestra and a special quar-tet will furnish the music. After the musical and literary program comes ice cream, s'rawberries, cake, etc. Forsyth, Maroa, Warrensburg and other lodges have written that they are coming.
